Why we need to process your information
As the contracted Third-Party Administrator, NGS has been contracted by your Insurer/membership plan provider to process your insurance claim/administer your membership plan and where required, handle any complaints.
Legal basis for processing your information.
Consent
Contract - you need to process someone's personal data to fulfil your contractual obligations to them; or because they have asked you to do something before entering into a contract (e.g. provide a quote).
Legal Obligation - you need to process the personal data to comply with a common law or statutory obligation. You must be able to identify the legal obligation.
Vital Interests - if you need to process the personal data to protect someone's life. You cannot rely on vital interests for health data or other special category data if the individual is capable of giving consent, even if they refuse their consent.
Legitimate Interests - the most "flexible" lawful basis for processing data. There is a three-part test: a. identify a legitimate interest; b. show that the processing is necessary to achieve it; and c. balance it against the individual's interests, rights and freedoms. If you use people's data in ways they would reasonably expect and which have a minimal privacy impact, or where there is a compelling justification for the processing, then this basis works. Keep a record of all Legitimate Interests Assessments (LIAs).
Criminal Offence Data – to process personal data about criminal convictions or offences, you need to show one of the five bases above and either legal authority or official authority for the processing of such data.
